

Gorilla Logic Signs Strategic Partnership Deal with Digital Primates

New Partnership Further Cements Both Firms Ability to Master the Jungle of Enterprise Application Development for Clients

Broomfield, CO and Park Ridge, IL – October 1st, 2009 – Gorilla Logic, the firm known for delivering enterprise application development resources with a 10X productivity and quality benefit; and Digital Primates, an industry leader in rich Internet applications focused on empowering clients through mentoring, training and development; today announced the completion of a strategic partnership agreement. The agreement ensures both firms can present a deeper enterprise application development solution to clients interested in top-tier solutions executed to control cost and increase quality while staying focused on business objectives.

“Digital Primates is known as a leader in Adobe Flex. We have architected and implemented some of the largest Flex applications in existence. We also strive to be a strong part of the community as contributors to both the Flex SDK and creators of the Flex Unit 4 project, which will be included in the next Flash Builder release from Adobe,” said Michael Labriola, Senior Consultant, Digital Primates. “Partnering with Gorilla Logic, the creators of FlexMonkey, an automated testing solution for Adobe Flex applications, allows our clients to leverage top-tier Java and Agile certified resources. Collectively we can deliver a solution set no others can match.”

As part of this strategic partnership, Digital Primates and Gorilla Logic will work collaboratively on large-scale projects where their unique insight into all elements of the development process and the leading technologies can be leveraged to the benefit of the client. As recognized industry leaders this partnership once again demonstrates the commitment of both companies to build on their strengths and the strengths of partners to further cement Adobe Flex, Java and Agile as the de facto standard in enterprise application development.

“Partnering with Digital Primates makes sense for everyone,” said Stu Stern, CEO, Gorilla Logic. “The benefits will be directly funneled to the clients, the industry and the technologies as a whole. We are confident this partnership creates an option for clients which allows the greatest return on investment while managing risk and reducing clients time to launch.”
